Shore Energy, Pastels

Meltdown, Acrylic Impasto

Where do you find your inspiration?

A: As a visionary expressionist, my art reflects the rhythms and patterns of the shoreline and waterways.

Do you have favorite colors and/or materials?

A: Out of cache of mixed media comes my favorite formula of acrylic impasto and when applied with a palette knife gets synthesized into bits and exploded into abstract forms. Then again, where can you find a more direct medium other than with the magic of pastels. My ideas travel gracefully through a pastel into an artistic message.

How do you know when a piece you are working on is finished or complete?

A: The end of the composition and artistic message comes when my creative energy is exhausted.

How do you feel when one of your works is sold?

A: Usually it is someone who gets “turned on” to my art work and wants to start a collection. Then comes the intrigue and the anticipation stage, if and when the second artwork is acquired.

“Always welcome a creative response to a difficult problem”
